Procedures and Selection Criteria

By the application deadline (Friday, April 21), each applicant shall forward the following information to the Economics Department:

1. completed application form;
2. one letter of recommendation from a faculty member; and
3. statement of purpose of 250 words (minimum) describing your educational/career plans for the first few years after graduation from Cal State. (note: if you are applying for one of the Kennedy Scholarships, your statement must also address financial need.)

A Departmental Scholarship Committee, composed of CSUSB economics faculty and alumni, shall evaluate applicants on the basis of the quality of submitted materials, i.e., information on the completed application form, strength of academic letter of recommendation, and clarity and content of written statement of purpose. The Committee also may consult faculty listed on the application form as having taught the applicant. Preference will be given to qualified applicants who have not previously been awarded an Economics Department scholarship (but previous scholarship recipients are encouraged to apply again this year.)

The Departmental Committee shall rank order the applications and prepare written evaluative comments regarding each. The applicants' submitted materials and the Committee's rank ordering and written comments will be forwarded to the University Scholarship Committee which shall select the scholarship recipients.
